Cambodia

Cambodia is a kingdom in Southeast Asia. It is 181,035 square kilometres (69,898 square miles) in area, bordered by Thailand to the northwest, Laos to the northeast, Vietnam to the east, and the Gulf of Thailand to the southwest. Cambodia has a population of over 15 million. The official religion is Theravada Buddhism, practiced by approximately 95 percent of the population. The country's minority groups include Vietnamese, Chinese, Chams, and 30 hill tribes. The capital and largest city is Phnom Penh, the political, economic, and cultural centre of Cambodia. The kingdom is a constitutional monarchy with Norodom Sihamoni, a monarch chosen by the Royal Throne Council, as head of state. The head of government is Hun Sen, who is currently the longest serving non-royal leader in South East Asia and has ruled Cambodia for over 30 years. Cambodia has become a popular destination and the country is developing fast. The city of Siem Reap was about thirteen years ago a small place with dirt roads and one traffic light, nowadays is the most touristic city of the country and the historical heart of Cambodia. The temples of Angkor is about seven kilometers of the city center and there are a lot of facilities to entertain the tourists from all over the world. But Cambodia is not only Angkor Wat. This fascinating, friendly country has so much more to offer. Countryside tours, floating villages, white sand beaches, tropical islands, jungle trekking, the mighty Mekong river, bicycle tours, cooking class, waterfalls, hilltribes, and much more.

Stunning Sunrise Angkor Wat

This morning, we look forward to catching a beautiful sunrise at the Angkor temples. Your day starts with an early wakeup call at 04.30am. The first stop is at the majestic Angkor Wat, a world heritage site from the 12th century and one of the largest and most beautiful temple complexes in the world. This is followed by a short refreshment break, then the short drive to Angkor Thom which is home to the spectacular 12th century Bayon Temple and other sites. The 54 four-headed Buddha statues are among the most impressive sights in the temple complex. Later in the day, you will visit the Ta Prohm Temple, a striking vision of the merging of nature and architecture because of the giant trees and roots growing out of the walls. Local legend has it that the rocks were exposed by the monkey general Hanuman during a hunt for medicine in the Ramayana epic. After lunch, we visit Koh Kor, the capital city from 928-944 AD, located in the northeast of Angkor. The temple is very secluded and is often overlooked because of its remote and secluded location. The temple with a view

We start our day with a visit to the Preah Vihear Temple, an ancient Hindu temple built during the period of the Khmer Empire. It is situated atop a 525-metre or 1,722-feet high cliff in the Dângrêk Mountains in Cambodia’s Preah Vihear Province. In 1962, following a lengthy dispute between Thailand and Cambodia over ownership, the International Court of Justice (ICJ) in The Hague ruled that the temple is within Cambodia. Affording a view across a vast plain, Preah Vihear Temple has the most spectacular setting of all the temples built during the six-centuries-long Khmer Empire. After lunch, we continue on to Sambor Prei Kuk at a homestay not far from the temples. Your local family will prepare dinner for you.

Impressive group of pre-Angkorian monuments

Only a few kilometres away from your homestay is the Pre-Angkorian temple complex of Sambor Prei Kuk. It is nestled beautifully in the forests of Kampong Thom and is the oldest temple complex in Cambodia dating from the 6th and 7th century. On arrival, you get a bike from the locals, and visit the three main temples with your guide. The narrow paths through the forests will lead you to discover a temple around every corner, all completely overgrown with vegetation. If you are not comfortable with riding bikes, we can do the tour on foot or by car. After visiting the temples, we head back to Siem Reap and arrive late in the afternoon.
